CORNHUSKERS PLAY IN MUD

lows State College of Ames Beaten by Score of Twenty-One to Nothing.

SLIPPERY BALL CAUSES MANY FUMBLES

Benedict's Boot and One Long Run the Only Spectacular Features of Game Played in a Pouring Rain Storm.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 4 .- (Special Telegram.) Booth's Cornhuskers and the Iowa agri culturists of Ames played foot ball today ankle deep in mud, the rain descending in orrents during every minute of play. The result was a decisive victory for the Cornhuskers, who scored four touchdowns and twenty-one points in short halves of twenty

Both teams fumbled badly because of the slippery ball, but the visitors were more unfortunate in this respect and the Cornhuskers were quick to avail themselves of every blunder. Nebraska resorted persistently to punting in the second half, Benedict's spirals escaping the Ames backs or else resulting in a fumble. By these tactics the Cornhuskers kept the ball within halling distance of the lowa goal and were able to force their way through on straight line plunges for three of their touchdowns.

The only startling play of the day was pulled off by Benedict, Nebraska's quarterback. Taking the ball on a fake buck at center, he skirted Ames' right end with McDonald interfering and ran sixty-five yards for the Cornhuskers' last touchdown-An Ames tackler finally overtook the fleeing Cornhusker and downed him, but Benedict's last stride had carried him over the

The Cornhuskers had only a slight advantage in weight, but Ames only once was dangerous. Elocking one of Benedict's punts in Nebraska territory, the Iowans rushed the ball to within fifteen yards of the Cornhuskers' goal line. Twice Ames ashed the ball to which there are cornhuskers' goal line. Twice Ames ould not gain and on the crucial down the lowers fumbled and Nebraske capared the ball. J., Nov. 4.—Princeton suffered its first defeat for the season today when Dartmouth made the only score and won the game. 8 to 6. Princeton's men were handleapped by poor physical condition and began the game with three substitutes occupying positions in the line. Dartmouth played in magnificent style, its men after two weeks' rest being in the pink—of condition. They played hard in the first half, rushing the boil to Princeton's fifty-five-yard line, the latter suffering nine penalties for offside plays. The ball was worked down to Princeton's ten-yard line in the early part of the game after a sixty-yard advance, but Princeton held for downs. Dartmouth again started its irrestible attack and reached the eight-yard line with the assistance of three penalties. Here Princeton again held, but McCormick's punt was blocked by Rich, another scramble ensued, which ended with the ball in Banker's arms. May kicked the goal and the half ended one minute later with the score 6 to 0. Princeton adopted a desperate effort to retrieve itself in the second half, but found it a hopeless undertaking. BADGERS WIN FROM THE GOPHERS

Fast Work of Wisconsin Team Too Much for Heavy Minnesota Men.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—Wisconsin's foot ball eleven defeated the University of Minnesota on Northrup field this afternoon by a score of 15 to 12. With an attack, the sustained forceness of which, even accordsustained fierceness of which, even according to the Minnesota adherents, has never | YALE been seen here before, the Wisconsin eleven scored two touchdowns in the first half and won the game in the second half by a pretty drop kick from the thirty-twoyard line by Quarterback Melsener. Minesota scored first, a fumble of a punt by Melsener being responsible for this touchdown, and added another touchdown in the second half, when the team was apparently hopelessly beaten. Minnesota, weakened in the line by the absence of Safford, the regular center, who broke his hand during a scrimmage Thursday, nevertheless apparently outweighed the Wisconsin forwards, and their advantage in weight was expected to tell heavily in the second half after the terrific work of the first part of the game. But it did not. On the contrary, Wisconsin, in spite of the fact that Minnesota scored a touchdown in the second half, fairly played absence of Safford, the regular center, required more than one play to make the touchdown in the second half, fairly played Fumbling was done by both teams and was unusually disastrous.

Minnesota's first touchdown was directly due to a dropped punt by Melsener. Melsener, in fact, figured more than any one else in the scoring done by Minnesota. Besides missing this punt he failed to down Cutting on the latter's long run for a touchdown. The little Wisconsin player made up for this, however, by his drop kick which won the game for Wisconsin.

That Minnesota did not lose by a larger score was due really to the work of its backs on defense. Today's defeat dissipated all hope of Minnesota figuring in the western champlonship this year. The

IOWA'S EASY TIME WITH GRINNELL Scores Forty-Five to Nothing for the Collegians.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 4.—(Special Teldgram.)—lowa defeated Grinnell today by the score of $6 to 0. The Hawkeyes took the lead from the start. White carried the kickoff back to the center of the field, and for the next ten minutes, before lowal scored, the collegians fought gamely on their own territory. Grinnell's line proved strong enough to force Kent to kick three times before Schwinn carried the ball over for a touchdown. lowa showed the benefit of the week's work by the way in which the men got into the play, though Kent had great difficulty in turning Grinnell's ends. White and Allen both got away for thirty-yard gains around right, but the steady gains which gave the Hawkeyes two touchdowns in the first half were the hurding of McGowan through center and the wide tackie bucks of Schwinn. Iowa's big tackle proved the salvation of the university team before Grinnell's line weakened, and was sure of three to fifteen vards whenever he was called on. Iowa was penalized fifty yards in the first half and Grinnell was lucky in scoring a fifty-yard punt on a fumble, but the only time the Hawkeye goal was threatened Grinnell was thrown back for a loss. Gales, referee, penalized lowa twice because he claimed an injured Collegians.

Dispute Over Nashville Player.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—Player Bennett of the Nashville club during most of the last season, for whose services the St. Louis National league club and the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league entered conflicting claims, will be considered a member of the Seattle club, according to a decision announced today by the National Base Ball commission. The Seattle club claims that the player was regularly purchased, the sale being announced on September 1 is declared to be established, and the St. Louis attempt to draft him on that date is not allowed. However, it is further announced that if the player is with the Seattle club on November 15, that being the beginning of the drafting season in the Pacific Coast league, he will be subject to draft. Princeton adopted a desperate effort to etrieve itself in the second half, but found a hopeless undertaking. The lineup: druft.
